Dear Parents and Carers,

We are delighted to be introducing Evisense, as our new digital platform to enhance and improve our communication systems with parents and carers at Glenwood, to better connect you with your young person's learning journey.

We know many of you have been looking forward to this launch for some time, and we sincerely appreciate your patience while we ensured our systems and staff were fully prepared to introduce it effectively.

Moving forward Evisense will serve as our primary platform for ongoing home-school communication. The system will also allow the tracking of progress in areas of learning so that we can see progress made within our new curriculum and will also link to annual review targets.

Initially as we introduce this tool to the school community, we will be using it for three main purposes:

- Teacher Communication: You can send messages to and receive messages from your young person's Class team.
- School News & Updates: We will post important reminders, announcements, and school-wide news here to keep you informed.
- Weekly Learning Shares: The class team will upload a weekly learning share, showcasing a snapshot of your child's learning, activities, and achievements. You can also use Evisense to share any important learning moments outside of school with the class team.

Over time, we aim to expand how we use the platform to bring our school community closer together, keeping us connected through your young person's unique learning journey.

We hope you find Evisense both useful and engaging. This initiative is part of our ongoing commitment to improving home-school communication and supporting a collaborative approach between home and school.

In order for the school to set up your account and for you to receive your invite to begin using Evisense please complete the below form/survey:
